This office action is responsive to communications filed 09/08/2005.

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 09/08/05 including the amendment filed 08/22/05 has been entered.

Claims 1 – 11 are pending.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1 – 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Johnson (US 2,912,007) in view of Ray (US 2,850,685).

Figures 1 – 4 of Johnson discloses a solenoid control valve having a housing with a minor channel (channel connecting ports 108,110), a supply inlet (108), a major channel (106) and a vent (195, also see col. 7, lines 57 – 59). The side of control element (20) exposed to inlet fluid pressure via (108, 110) in Fig. 2 is read as a minor surface and the right side surface of element (20) exposed to pressure in chamber (74) is read as the major surface. Actuator chamber is (22) wherein the poppet (part of (20) connected to piston (72)) is disposed. Pilot valve (98) of Fig. 3 of Johnson is read as the “pilot ball valve”. Pin (156) of Fig. 3 of Johnson is read as an arm, with the spring (178) of Fig. 2 being read as a biasing means. Appropriate inner surface of liner elements (23, 26, 28, 30 and 32) define the vent and fill contacts with respective seats defined on the poppet (as defined above). A control port (45, 46) and an outlet port (140) are provided in fluid communication with the actuator chamber.

The claims 1 – 11 are considered met by Figs. 1 – 4 of Johnson except for a dual coil solenoid. Ray shows a dual coil solenoid actuating a valve. It would have been obvious to substitute the dual coil solenoid of Ray for the solenoid in Figs. 1 – 4 of Johnson, for the purpose of providing a mechanical advantage in the lever of the pilot valve of Johnson, as evident from Ray.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 08/22/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argument that some of the features of claim 1 (as listed on pages 5 and 6 of the 'REMARKS') have been noted and in response a more detailed correspondence between the Johnson reference and the claimed elements has been provided.
